

IMANAT Stock Licensing Agreements

All the photographs in this site are the property of the photographer and are rights protected by international copyright law.

A standard, non-exclusive license for the rights to use images on this site are offered for a single-use fee for a specified period of time &/or a specified quantity (print run). All prices quoted in the accompanying Pricing Tables are based on these conditions and are in $US.

Other licenses at progressively higher prices are available as follows:

1. one-time use with industry exclusivity i.e. purchaser intends single use but wishes to restrict competitors in same industry from using the same image during the specified period.
2. one-time use with total exclusivity i.e. purchaser intends single use but wishes to restrict ALL other buyers from using the same image during the specified period of usage.
3. unlimited use with industry exclusivity i.e. purchaser can use the image as often and in as many uses as needed, for a specified period of time. No other competitive use within same industry. Licensing rights to same image - permissible outside that industry.
4. unlimited use with total exclusivity i.e. buyer can use the image as often and in as many different uses as they want, for a defined period of time. NO other usage shall be made of that image during that period.
5. total buyout i.e. Copyright is transferred to the buyer. Buyer owns the photo and can use the image as often and in as many uses as they want, for an indefinite period of time. Photographer rescinds all rights to that image and removes it from his collection.

Fees for the above licensing options are determined by negotiation between photographer and client based on usage details and other criteria such as whether intended for non-profit, editorial or advertising use.

Credit wherever possible and practical shall be included with the published material in the form @imanat.com
